Today's reading is from the Gospel of St Mark

Adapted for children from NJB Mark 10:35-45

The disciples, James and John, came to Jesus. 'Teacher, there is something we want you do for us'. Jesus answered, 'What do you want me to do?'

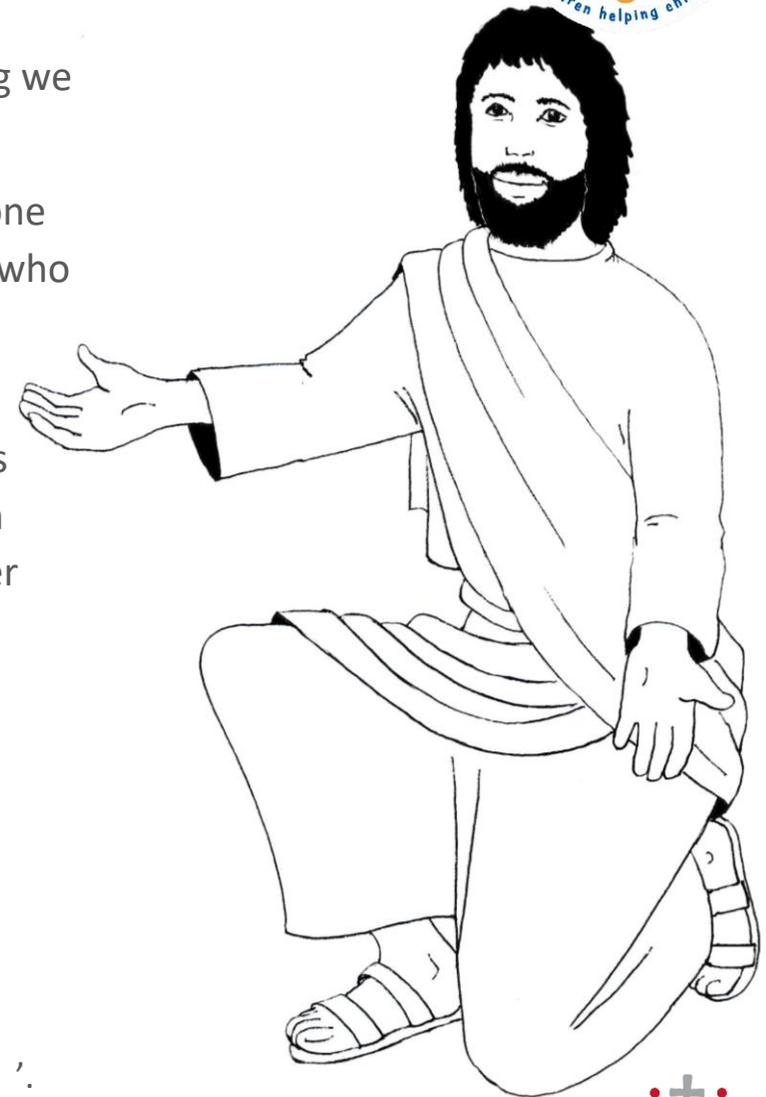

They replied, 'Let us have the highest places of honour in your kingdom, one of us at your right and the other at your left'. Jesus said, 'I cannot choose who will sit at my right or my left. That's for whom it has been prepared'.

When the other disciples heard about this, they were angry with James and John. Jesus called them all together and said, 'There are some leaders who love to show their power over people. It should not be that way with you. Instead, whoever wants to be great must become a servant. Whoever wants to be first among you must be a servant to all'.
